SAGES 2022 - #WelcomeHome!

We're looking forward to being back together next week!

For those who will be there in-person, your safety remains our top priority and we'll be following the COVID protocol. For those unable to travel this year, the virtual only meeting option will broadcast most sessions in real time. Participants for both the in-person and virtual only registration will also have access to session content on demand -- and CME credits -- through December 2022.

Dr. Archana Ramaswamy and Dr. Jake Greenberg Talk Family, Hernias and SAGES 2022 on the Latest SAGES Stories Podcast

In a lead up to next week's Denver meeting, co-chairs Drs. Ramaswamy and Greenberg talk about what it's like to plan an annual meeting, their SAGES mentors and most memorable SAGES moments. They also reveal how they each chose hernia surgery over other personal passions: hockey and sports medicine (Dr. Ramaswamy) and music (Dr. Greenberg). Listen, like and subscribe to all monthly episodes here.

SAGES Member Spotlight Dr. Susanne Warner

What makes SAGES unique? For Dr. Susanne Warner, the society's ability to

Susanne Warner, MD
Assistant Professor of Surgery
Division of Hepatobiliary and Pancreas Surgery
Mayo Clinic Rochester, MN

be relevant to a large swath of members serving many different types of institutions and patients. She says, "With regular focus on clinical excellence and emphasis on providing video evidence of what we say we can do, SAGES challenges each of us to level up."

Dr. Warner, who initially joined SAGES as a first-year faculty member, continues to level up her own involvement, first as a member of the SAGES Research & Career Development Committee and today as part of the HPB Task Force, where she has helped create the Mastery curriculum for minimally invasive liver surgery.
